News You Can Use: The Future of Breast Cancer Care

Living Beyond Breast Cancer's annual fall conference, "News You Can Use: The Future of Breast Cancer Care," will be held November 14 in Philadelphia. The day-long program includes plenary sessions on the latest breast cancer research and complementary therapies. Participants can choose from seven morning workshops and six in the afternoon covering topics such as triple-negative breast cancer, fear of recurrence, living with advanced breast cancer, long-term survivorship, reconstruction, journaling, weight training, and communicating with your health care team.
